

Going live: no long season under construction.

When we move on a direction, here's what to expect

WHERE THINGS STAND

Three designs, ~75% built

The design work that usually takes months has already happened. What's left is choosing a direction, finalizing content, and a round of review.

THE SWITCHOVER ITSELF

One evening. Zero downtime.

When we're ready, the new site replaces the old site in a single window overnight. Visitors the next morning see the new site. Nothing is ever 'under construction' publicly.

IF WE WANT TO PAUSE

Reversible at any stage

Until we flip the switch, the current site keeps running exactly as it does today.

A MOMENT TO PIVOT, LOOK AROUND, UPDATE

There is no perfect website.
Only a next good one.